Nursing and Upbringing Children

Pyongyang, DPR Korea

Juche 104 (2015)

In the DPRK where children are regarded as the king and treasure of the country, the State takes responsible care of children from babies to those of preschool age.

“The DPRK Law on the Nursing and Upbringing of Children” was adopted at the Sixth Session of the Fifth Supreme People’s Assembly on April 29, Juche 65 (1976).

Thanks to Marshal Kim Jong Un’s politics of loving care for the rising generations and the future of the country, the children of the DPRK are fully developing their talents and fulfilling their hopes at nurseries and kindergartens, which are fully provided with all conditions for their upbringing.

Korean Children, the Happiest in the World

Every child is registered on the health care record from the very day of birth and receives vaccination, health checkup and treatment on a regular basis.

Okryu Children's Hospital is provided with all conditions for medical care and upbringing on the highest level.

Triplets are granted silver daggers, gold rings, tonics and subsidies for their upbringing.

Children in baby homes and orphanages are growing up in good health.

The State regularly supplies children with soybean milk and other various kinds of nutritious food.

Children receive intellectual education through visual aids and facts.
